

Celebrating Diderot Studies

Oxford, October 29 – 31, 2009

Co-organisation: Kate E. Tunstall, Caroline Warman and Thierry Belleguic

With the generous support of the Besterman Centre for the Enlightenment, Voltaire Foundation

the John Fell OUP Research Fund

the Maison Française d'Oxford and the Centre interuniversitaire d'étude sur la République des Lettres

(CIERL, Université Laval, Québec)

All sessions will be held in the 'Salon' of the Maison Française, Norham Road, Oxford

Jean Huber, 'La Sainte Cène du Patriarche', c. 1772 (Oxford, Voltaire Foundation)

Wilda Anderson (Johns Hopkins University), Tom Baldwin (University of Kent), Thierry Belleguic (Université Laval), Jean-Claude Bourdin (Poitiers), Daniel Brewer (University of Minnesota), Franck Cabane (Lycée M. Sorre, Cachan, Université Paris VII), Julie Candler Hayes (University of Massachusetts Amherst), Sabine Chaouche (Oxford Brookes University), Andrew H. Clark (Fordham University), Andrew Curran (Wesleyan University), Michel Delon (Université Paris IV), Colas Duflo (Université Jules Verne), Nathalie Ferrand (CNRS-Maison Française, Oxford), James Fowler (University of Kent), Angelica Goodden (University of Oxford), Russell Goulbourne (University of Leeds), Marian Hobson (Queen Mary, University of London), Timo Kaitaro (University of Helsinki), Laurence Mall (University of Illinois), Isabelle Moreau (University College, London), John Parkin (Bristol University), Elise Pavy (Université Jean Moulin Lyon III), Síofra Piersé (University College, Dublin), Frank Salaün (Université Paul Valéry), Catriona Seth (Université de Nancy), Anthony Strugnell (University of Hull), Kate E. Tunstall (University of Oxford), Nicolas Veysman (independent scholar), Flore Villemin (Université Nancy 2), Charles Vincent (Université Paris IV), Caroline Warman (University of Oxford), Alexandre Wenger (Université de Genève).

Vf